

ARCHITECTURE & URBAN DESIGN

> The following two years of the Master's degree will deepen your knowledge and skills in architecture and urban planning. The backbone of the programme is studio work under the guidance of studio supervisors, whom you choose according to your preferences. A large part of your studies consists of compulsory electives, which allow you to profile yourself more and focus on topics that interest you personally. Part of your studies includes a compulsory internship in an architectural studio, which you can complete during the first three semesters, depending on your time availability.

> In the second year of study, you will focus on preparing your thesis with your chosen supervisor (Pre-diploma Module Studio, Thesis Preparation). The diploma thesis and the final state exam will complete your studies and after that you will be ready to go into practice as an independent architect. You can also work in academia, journalism, or as a professional in various offices and institutions.
